

What's coming soon in Jinfo

Research focus

Jinfo Research focuses on a different area of information strategy every calendar quarter:

- Benchmark information roles - optimise your structure (July - September 2017)

Where do the information roles sit in your organisation? Who does what, where? This Research focus helps you to benchmark against other organisations to see how defined the roles are, how visible they are and how you can activate your role as an information consultant no matter where you are in the business.

- Define and manage value for current awareness (October - December 2017)

Does your current awareness provision meet the needs of customers without overloading the resources of the information services team and budget? Are you taking advantage of the latest technology, user needs and sources? This Research Focus helps you to design for 2020 then work backwards to identify where to invest in technology and skills.
